

RLI'S WORKING PAPERS SERIES SUBMISSION GUIDE

General

- Papers must be accompanied by a signed and dated statement by the author/s declaring that permission to publish the paper on the Refugee Law Initiative (RLI) website is given, and confirming that no further permissions are required.
- Papers will be reviewed by the RLI Working Papers Series editorial board and may be subject to pre-publication light editing. The RLI will endeavour to accept, reject or propose revisions to a paper within four weeks of submission.
- Papers are published online and are freely accessible.
- Papers published in the series may subsequently be published in journals or books provided that an acknowledgement is given to the RLI Working Papers series.
- Opinions expressed in individual Working Papers are solely those of the author/s, who retain the copyright. They do not represent the views of the RLI, and should not be attributed to it.

Format

- Cover page: Working Paper title, author's name & affiliation, email address
- Abstract (up to 300 words) & key words (up to 5)
- Paper: Generally between 8,000 and 15,000 words, including footnotes
- Bibliography (optional)

Style

- Preferred style: OSCOLA <<http://www.law.ox.ac.uk/publications/oscola.php>>
 - Font: Times New Roman, 12 point, justified, single spaced
 - Footnotes: Times New Roman, 10 point, single spaced
- Other law journal styles will be accepted
- In-text citation is not accepted. Internal consistency & accuracy in referencing are required
- UK spelling
- Document: MS Word (A4 with default margins)

For further information, and to submit a paper please contact the Editor-in-Chief, Dr Ruvi Ziegler on r.ziegler@reading.ac.uk.